To Men of Good Will

GOOD will to every shepherd boy
Who leaves the flock he loves to tend
And trudges down the hill with joy,—
Good will to you my friend !

Good will to all who find the door
That shows them at the journey's end
Their hearts' desire in stable poor,—
Good will to you my friend !

Good will to all who go away,
Returning to the flocks they tend,
And know whom they have seen to-day,—
Good will to you my friend !

Good will to all who seek release
From strife, and find, as, on they wend,
A little child the Prince of Peace,—
Good will to you my friend !
